Dear Mr. Rustin:

We appreciate your letter of March 5, 1965, to Mr. [REDACTED] on his talk to the Research and Engineering Council on computerized typesetting. We have received a number of interesting letters on [REDACTED] talk and are endeavoring to comply with various requests for information on it. 25X1A9a

[REDACTED] of the Research and Engineering Council tells me that the verbatim transcript of the meeting is being rushed so that it should be available fairly soon. I believe that copies of this will be available to all participants of the conference and that it will contain the information which you want. With respect to illustrations on hyphenless justification, these are appearing in an article by [REDACTED] in the April edition of PRINTING PRODUCTION Magazine. I believe that the information that you want will be available from these two sources. 25X1A9a

If after you have obtained the transcript and the article in PRINTING PRODUCTION you find that this does not completely suit the purpose, you may wish to write me and I will see what can be done at that time to give you additional information.

Very truly yours,

25X1A9a
